The Syrian Coalition was deeply saddened to hear of the death of Doctor Hasan Hariri who was killed in regime airstrikes on Dara'a city on Sunday.

Doctor Hariri joined the revolution in the very beginning and dedicated his efforts to help victims of the war machine of the Assad regime and its allies on the Syrian people. Hariri remained dedicated to his mission despite losing seven of his sons in a barrel bomb attack by the Assad regime forces as well as the many injuries he suffered while carrying out his duties.

The Syrian Coalition extends its sincere condolences to the family and friends of Hariri as it emphasizes that the Syrian people will continue their struggle for freedom, dignity, and justice.

May he rest in peace.
May the revolution for freedom and dignity emerge victorious.
We belong to Allah and to Him we shall return.
