Motion for a resolution

Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

B a. whereas the EU is vulnerable to external pressure in many areas, such as economy, energy, trade, banking system, defence, that prevents the EU from exercising its sovereignty; whereas in particular US policies, such as sanctions against Iran, are underlining the creditability of foreign affairs policies of the EU and its Member States; whereas there is an urgent need to create the conditions for a strategic autonomy of the EU and its Member States; whereas there is an urgent need to make the EU more independent of the US financial system thus protecting its business from extra-territorial US sanctions;

Amendment 30
Idoia Villanueva Ruiz

Motion for a resolution
Recital B d (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

B d. whereas more than half of the world's population growth by 2050 is expected to occur in Africa, which is expected to account for 1.3 billion of the additional 2.4 billion people on the planet; whereas the concentration of this growth in some of the poorest countries together with the effects of climate change will lead to a series of new challenges which, if not addressed immediately, will have extremely problematic effects both for the countries in question and for the European Union; whereas the recent UNCTAD report on Trade and Development 2019 figures additional 2.5 trillion US-Dollars a year for ensuring to reach the commitments of the UN 2030 SDG Agenda;

Paragraph 4 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

4 a. Deplores that commitments and declarations about promoting the women, peace and security (WPS) agenda and equal representation of women in foreign and security policy often remain rather being rhetoric than aiming and ensuring actual implementation, leading to limited progress on the agenda's goals worldwide; reminds that women's participation in peace and security processes can play a significant role in determining the success and sustainability of peace agreements, as well as the durability and quality of peace; calls on the EU and its Member States to exercise leadership in the implementation of the WPS agenda and to work for overcoming

- the continued resistance of mediators and negotiators to include women in peace talks,*
- the resistance of post-conflict planners to analyse women's needs and allocate sufficient resources to address them,*
- the resistance of political parties to front women candidates,*
- the resistance of security services to prevent violence against women,*
- the resistance of rule of law actors to apply agreed international law to the investigation and prosecution of crimes against women;*

Paragraph 18 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

18 a. Highlights the importance of reinforcing and guaranteeing cooperation in intelligence matters in the EU, given that terrorism continues to be a threat to our European values and security and requires a multidimensional approach that involves border, police and judicial authorities, and intelligence of all Member States, as well as third states, as well as inclusive long-term policies that address the root causes of terrorism; calls for starting the necessary works to develop full and autonomous intelligence capacities for the EU;
