The Syrian Coalition reaffirms full support for the Free Syrian Army (FSA) in its operation to liberate the town of Jarablos from the ISIS terrorist organization. The offensive, which was launched along with a number of rebel groups operating in Aleppo in the early hours of Wednesday, aims to remove the threats posed by the extremist group and other groups allied with the Assad regime in the area.

The Syrian Coalition welcomes the support provided by Turkey and the international anti-ISIS coalition for the FSA operation in Jarablos. The Coalition emphasizes that the military presence of the international anti-ISIS coalition in and around Jarablos is temporary and limited to the provision of logistical support. The ground attack on the town will be carried out by the FSA fighters.

May our wounded recover, our detainees be free, and our fallen heroes rest in peace. Long live Syria and its people, free and with honor.
