Press Statement

Hadi al Bahra

President of the Syrian Coalition

October 4, 2014

Words cannot describe the outrage I felt upon hearing news of the beheading of the British national, Alan Henning, by the devilish group ISIS. Our hearts go out to family of Henning and his loved ones at this difficult time.

Taking the life of a dedicated aid worker, who helped save the lives of thousands of people suffering from Assad's brutal tactics and its violent consequences, is the ultimate crime. This crime should not and will not go unpunished. It might take some time, but eventually ISIS's faceless murderers will be brought to justice and they will pay the price for their barbarism.
